Introduction

An academic audit is a process of evaluating the academic programs and activities of a college to determine whether they are in line with the college's mission and goals. The primary goal of an academic audit is to assess the quality and effectiveness of the college's academic programs and to identify areas that need improvement.

During an academic audit, an external auditor or team of auditors will review the college's academic policies, curriculum, teaching methods, assessment practices, and student outcomes. They may also conduct interviews with faculty, staff, and students to gather feedback on the college's academic programs.

The results of an academic audit can be used by college administration and faculty to make improvements to their academic programs and to demonstrate to stakeholders, such as students, parents, and accrediting bodies, that the college is committed to provide high-quality education.

In line of that our academic audit started with the submission of departmental evaluation reports submitted by all the departments to the IQAC. These self-evaluation reports were consolidated and submitted to the external audit committee for perusal and evaluations.
